

Linda Franchini

Linda Franchini, CET, teaches Electronics Engineering Technology at Linn State Technical College, in Linn, Missouri. She is a U. S. Navy veteran with a background in computers. Her areas of interests include computer technology, digital concepts and applications, and embedded controllers. She previously taught for the Navy/Marine Corps Aviation School in Millington, Tennessee. She holds an ASET in Electrical Engineering Technology and a BSET in Electronic Engineering Technology from the University of Memphis. Linda currently serves on the Foundation Board for Linn State Technical College. Linda may be reached at linda.franchini@linnstate.edu.

