

Walter F. Deal, III

Walter F. Deal, III is an Associate Professor Emeriti and Adjunct in the Department of STEM Education and Professional Studies at Old Dominion University. He holds a Bachelor's degree from Old Dominion College, and Master's degree from East Carolina University and a PhD in Computer and Information Science for NOVA Southeastern University. His teaching responsibilities have included basic electronics, control technologies, CNC manufacturing and instructional design and technology. His research interests are in electronics, microcontrollers, robotics, and distance learning.

