JOHN M. RITZ

John Ritz is a professor of technology education at Old Dominion University. He also serves as department chairman. He has experience in curriculum development with education, business and industry, and the federal government. He earned his BS from Purdue University in 1970, MS from university of Wisconsin-Stout in 1974, and Ed.D. from West Virginia University in 1977.