

Richard C. Seriani

Richard Seriani is an adjunct instructor in the Electronics Engineering Technology and Electromechanical Controls Technology programs at Tidewater Community College. He holds a B. S. Degree in Electrical Engineering Technology from Old Dominion University. Richard has over 45 years of experience as an electronics technician and 16 years' experience as a senior analyst/technical writer with a government contractor. He can be reached at (757)410-7889 or rseriani@tcc.edu

